Utility Extending Service to Wayland Launch Gas Line Project

With approval from the state Public Service Commission, the New York State Gas and Electric Corp. has started extending its gas line to provide natural gas service to the village of Wayland and concurrently to the Town of Prittsburg.

Brian Eldridge, manager of NYSEG's Dansville office, said two contractors have started installing the six-mile natural gas main that will link Wayland to NYSEG's existing gas system in Dansville.

The project started last week at

The Gunlocke Co. Inc. on Route 15 extending north and Tuesday was at the intersection of W. Naples St. at Washington St. This week the line is to be extended from that point to Wayland Central School and proceed along Route 63 to Dansville.

Eldridge said one contractor is installing the main line while a second is setting distribution lines.

The PSC decision culminated a year of hearings, reviews and local approvals on the proposal, said

Eldridge. NYSEG was selected over Finger Lakes Gas Co. to provide the gas service.

Rates for new customers, an anticipated 1,200 in Wayland, will be the same as those for other NYSEG customers.

To qualify for gas service, homes and businesses must meet conservation and ventilation requirements, and appliances fueled by propane must be converted. The utility will provide 100 feet of gas line to a resident's home.

Girl Scout Leaders Are Called

When one former Wayland leader was notified of the upcoming reunion banquet for all Girl Scout volunteers, past and present, in the Wayland School District she said "it was such a long time ago I had forgotten about it!"

A committee has been checking old registrations, newspaper articles, and jogging the memories of former leaders in an effort to reach everyone — but fear they will miss a few along the way.

This is the first time in the history of Wayland Girl Scouting that such an event has been held. The 75th anniversary of the organization in the United States triggered the effort.

Anyone who has not been contacted, or knows someone who has not been contacted, is asked to call 728-5632 and a reservation form will be sent immediately.

The program will include dinner, and many surprises and will be held at the Little House on Wednesday, Oct. 7, starting at 6 p.m. Dinner will be $6.00 and will be served at 7 p.m. Reservations are limited and must be received by Sept. 25.

Assembly Sets Intern Program

Assemblyman Donald R. Davidson announces an opportunity for college juniors, seniors and graduate students to apply for 160 fulltime internships, sponsored by the Assembly.

The semester-long program begins in January with a week of orientation to state government and the legislative process. In addition to attending regular classes at the Assembly, session interns work directly with Assembly members.

Interns receive a semester of credit from their college and a $1,500 stipend from the Assembly. Juniors and seniors with at least C-plus averages from all majors may apply.

Applicants for the Session Intern Program must be matriculated in a college degree program and must be state residents or attend a college in the state. Students attending out-of-state colleges are eligible for the program, but only if the college endorses the student's participation.

Further information and applications are available from the Assembly Intern Program, 829A Legislative Office Building, Albany, 12248, call 518-455-4704 or contact the college liaison officer.

In Meeting OSHA Mandates Plan Would Help Vol Fire Units

Assemblyman Paul D. Tonko, chairman of the Subcommittee on Volunteer Firefighters, said he has scheduled a series of statewide public hearings on legislation aimed at assisting local fire departments in meeting federal safety standards.

Assemblyman Tonko said the seven hearings in particular would seek comment from volunteer firefighters on a bill that would aid fire companies in complying with federal Office of Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) requirements.

Under terms of the legislation, sponsored by Tonko, state grants would be made to assist any paid or volunteer fire department or company or fire district in buying protective clothing and respiratory devices for its members.

The New York State Office of Fire Prevention and Control would administer the program and determine eligibility, based on financial need, by considering factors such as annual budgets, maximum spending limits, tax base and the need for safety equipment.

Grants would begin at 100 percent for personal protective gear, while aid would be awarded on a sliding scale, beginning at 75 percent, for respiratory devices. Each department, company or fire district could receive help in buying respiratory equipment up to 20 percent of its membership. Retroactive provisions would allow grants for purchases made after June 1, 1984.

"I believe it is important that the Subcommittee on Volunteer Firefighters receive comments from those individual members of the fire service who must comply with the OSHA standards on a day-to-day basis," Assemblyman Tonko said. "The testimony the subcommittee receives on this legislation will be taken into consideration during the next Legislative Session and will be reflected in any changes that may be made in the bill," he added.

Builder Begins Senior Complex

A target date of Dec. 7 has been scheduled for completion of the new low income senior housing project started earlier this month on Lincoln Street, site of the former Wayland High School.

The $695,000 project is being constructed jointly by Two Plus Four Construction Co. Inc. of Syracuse in partnership with Steuben Livingston Agriculture Project (SLAP).

The contractor is the developer of Southview Apartments, a housing complex east of the village and will take over management of the latest development after it is completed. David R. Bacon is president of Two Plus Four.

Project financing was obtained by SLAP through Farmers Home Administration which provided $660,250 in a low interest loan.

Two Plus Four became a partner in the project after contributing $34,750. Tom Carey, SLAP director, said his organization is providing the land valued at $23,000 and with in-kind services valued at $14,000.

An operating subsidy of $188,200 was awarded SLAP by the state Housing and Community Renewal Commission to be used for rental assistance during the first five years of the program making housing affordable for the low income elderly.

Renters will pay up to 30 percent of their monthly income toward the cost of their apartments with the balance subsidized from the state funding.

Carey reported, "We will be announcing the process for people to make application."

Wayland Student Gains Top Honor

Shawn Carter, son of Brenda and Thomas Carter on South Lackawanna Street in Wayland, has been accepted as a member of the Society of Distinguished American High School Students.

He will represent Wayland Central School with his sponsor, Marlene Mark, as a 1986-87 member.

The society accepts young people who have demonstrated outstanding academic, extracurricular, or civic achievement. Membership is attained by less than four percent of all high school students. His name and a biographical sketch will be included in the Society's 19th Annual Registry which is published and distributed nationally.

Acceptance, officials point out, exemplifies the high standards set and carried out by all those involved in the educational progress and development at the student's home school.
